Be Mine, Baby [Q & A]

by DancingSkys

Summary

!Not an usual update!
This is the part where I have collected the questions you guys sent in and let Namjoon and Yoongi answer them.
If you are curious take a look~

Notes

Please excuse my ranting at the end ^^' The question was for me as the author and I kinda went wild...
The tags are mostly things which are mention in the questions or answers.

Yoongi:

Fam, how the hell do you college? I'm a first semester freshman who's going to end up transferring to another school and I'm dying.

Honestly, I don't even know. There are times where it gets too stressful and even Namjoon can't get through to me, especially around exam season. It's true that sometimes I put him before college… don't tell him that… and sometimes it's the other way around. There were a few instances where I had to rush a project because I preferred cuddling on the couch to writing something.

Hang in there, I'm sure things will settle down a bit and you'll find yourself getting the hang of all the work but we all get a little overwhelmed at times so make sure you're also doing something for yourself every now and then. Namjoon has to deal with me hogging his bathtub for an hour after every exam.

Also, why don't you like folding socks?

Because it's damn boring and Namjoon's socks all look the same but they are different brands and have the slightest difference that you really have to look for and there are always those sad socks that have lost their partner. It takes forever, I end up going through them for like over half an hour on the floor.

What is something you are excited to try?

This is a bit… how should I say this?

Ever since the Halloween Play Party I've been kinda thinking about Seokjin a lot? I mean, not like… like romantically but like… you know? This doesn't really make it any better I guess…

I'm pretty sure Namjoon has picked up on it because he won't stop grinning at me whenever we're all together and somehow I always end up sitting next to Seokjin. It feels like the two of them are onto something.

But please don't misunderstand, this isn't like… like… I don't know. This doesn't change anything between Joon and me. I'm convinced he knows what is going on and it's nothing serious it's just that Jinnie had really, really nice shoulders and a very, very nice chest, you know? That shirt was pretty low cut…

Actually, now that I think about it I know Joon knows something because he asked me how I feel about Seokjin as a dom…

Okay, the two are definitely up to something.

Would you ever get jealous, of other people give your bf some "attention"?

I like to think that I won't get jealous because I trust Namjoon with my life but I can't deny I get a little sour when he ignores me to talk to someone else. I like to take up all of his attention but I'm not some whiny child who clings to his arm the whole time. I would also never distrust or doubt him, there is just this little tinge of sadness when he isn't around as much because of someone else.

When someone comes up and shamelessly flirts with him though I'm pretty quick to tell them off. He's my man, get your own.

Yoongi, would you try pet play again? If so, which type of pet?

Of course, we do that quite regularly. Usually not as intense as others who get really immersed into their animal role may do but I kind of enjoy petplay a lot.

Both cat and fox are okay. Those are animals I like and find easy to get into. I wouldn't want to be a dog and I'm also not one to try more exotic animals so I stick with those two. Most of the time it's a fox though because of the tails we have and Namjoon likes to call me his little fox.

What is your favorite part about being Namjoon's sub?

The fact that he takes care of me and knows what to do. There wasn't ever a moment where I had the feeling that I couldn't trust him and his decisions. Of course there are things that I don't like but I know he has a reason for acting that way and usually I see those once I'm bit more level-headed again.

At first I thought I would be really ashamed for liking the things we tried and getting off on them once I was out of my headspace again but with Namjoon it's just… it's fine. I'm not feeling ashamed or anything and I know I can tell him everything it's just that I still get embarrassed about a lot of things… I never said that, don't tell him!

But yeah, I just feel safe with him.

Hey! A question for Yoongi: how do you feel about fisting? Would you try it?

Oh hell yeah. I mean… I'm pretty darn curious and I would try it for sure. I'm pretty sure Namjoon would be down for it as well because I already go wild with just the normal stuff but if he actually went all the way and got his whole fist into me….. hiodanzdwqubirgifuj

How do you feel about erotic tickling? Would you be willing to tr y it?

Oh god, the thought alone makes me wanna protect myself in a huge hoodie and a blanket. Like… it might sound strange but this is more intense than any spanking session ever could be. Namjoon brought it up once but I was like 'No, no, no, nopedi nope! Red flag, no thanks.'

This isn't really something I want to try because I don't really like tickling in the first place. It's okay to do it outside of the bedroom sometimes since I can always get up and leave but with tickling in a scene while I'm restrained… No, I'm can't really say I'm interested to try it out. It doesn't sound very appealing to me and I don't really plan on trying it anytime soon if ever. I'd probably ask to stop about two minutes in. Sounds more like a punishment to me but Namjoon has never used it because I asked him not to.

Though Jimin once mentioned he liked it… I don't really understand the appeal but okay, everyone is different.

Namjoon

What is something you are excited to try?

Yoongi with his hands tied up to a suspension ring so he's barely standing on his tiptoes. I'd probably just watch him for half an hour and then… there is so much I could do. I'd probably get him all dressed up with cuffs, his collar, a snug harness out of red rope, nipple clamps and maybe a blindfold. He'd look so pretty. Imagine the leather tip of a crop gliding over his soft skin and nudging him into the correct position ever so slightly. Nuondhsbfgafgjshd!

Oh and feeding Yoongi waffles and glühwein down at the Christmas market and seeing him all flushed and sparkly-eyed with powdered sugar on his nose sighs dreamily

Would you ever get jealous, of other people give your bf some "attention"?

I mean, who doesn't get jealous occasionally? Especially with someone like Yoongi who probably wouldn't realize someone is flirting with him until they are trying to kiss him. He always gets pouty when he feels like I'm neglecting him in favour of someone else but he himself never seems to realize when someone makes a move on him, it's cute, really.

Though I have to say I might tend to get a bit protective when someone comes onto him too strongly and I have stepped in a few times because I got the feeling he wasn't comfortable with where the conversation was heading. He's pretty quiet and reserved around others at first so he probably wouldn't immediately speak up when he's getting uncomfortable.

Unlike other people I don't want to keep him on a leash though… (except in the bedroom). He's his own person and I trust him so he can do whatever he feels like doing. I don't want to restrict him in regards of friendships and the like, that just wouldn't be right and I wouldn't want anyone telling me who I can talk to so I won't do the same to him.

I also wouldn't ever think of pulling the dom card on him and he knows this. I am aware that other doms tend to punish their subs because they are jealous but I don't think that's right. We don't have any rules that permit him from talking to people so me getting jealous is my problem and not something Yoongi should be punished for. If there is actually something that's bothering me we can talk about it like mature adults and he knows this. I know he gets insecure sometimes when I talk to other subs for a long time and has talked to me about it occasionally… or rather he curled up in my lap and wouldn't move for an hour. Deep down he knows there isn't any meaning behind it but he still needs a little reassurance sometimes which I'm happy to give.

I would never think of going behind his back and playing with other subs, that's not what I want at all but of course we all get a little insecure at times so I do my best to show him that he's my only one.

Ah, I'm getting a little off topic. To answer your question; yes, sometimes I do get jealous but I try not to show it or let it affect me. There is nothing we can't talk about. Communication is key.

Namjoon, have you ever found it difficult to punish Yoongi?

Of course. Punishment is not something I enjoy either so it's almost never easy to punish Yoongi. It gets even more difficult when I can clearly see that he didn't mean to break a rule or do something wrong. It would be easier to let things slide sometimes but that wouldn't be practical in the long run. He'd start to question my position and slack off or start trying to talk his way out of his punishment.

Sadly I have to punish whenever a clearly established rule was broken, no matter how hard it is for me but of course I chose a punishment fitting for what he did wrong and why he did it wrong.

And the cuddling afterwards is a little compensation as well.

What's your favorite part about being Yoongi's dom?

That I can make him feel all these different things, that he lets me have complete control over every part of him and that he trusts me so much. I swear my heart explodes sometimes when he's reduced to his smallest self and is an open book for me, when I broke him down into the most submissive state and he just looks at me with those eyes. He's so trusting and so… just… I can't put it into words.

It's a shame you can't see how he is during suspension bondage. He's so vulnerable but he lets me do it because he likes how I do it and he trusts me and I just… excuse me blows nose loudly and wipes eyes

I love him.

Also, have you ever subbed for anyone?

I have tried it a few times many years back but I really couldn't get into it. I don't enjoy being on that side of the relationship and it doesn't have the same effects on me. I figured quite early on that I'm more of a dom than a sub and I'm very happy with how things are now.

That doesn't mean that I somehow think less of subs, absolutely not. It's just not something I enjoy.

Hey Namjoon I was wondering if you have a safeword too?? And if you ever gone thru a dom drop either with Yoongi or not.

Of course I do, I use the same safeword as Yoongi (applepie). It's just that if I get the feeling that I need to stop what's going on it's usually because Yoongi is too far gone and I can't reach him anymore so the safeword doesn't either which is why I don't use it in those cases but I would use it when something was going the wrong way or I felt somehow… out of control.

And yes, this has happened a few times. It might not be as apparent with doms but we too can drop after a scene. I usually don't notice at first myself but I feel kind of restless like I'm forgetting about something but at the same time I can't bring myself to get up and do something about it. Yoongi usually notices when I'm like this and is always really sweet when it happens. He gets me my favorite chocolate and he cuddles up to me and tells me how much he loves me and all the good things.

I often feel guilty or like I'm taking advantage of Yoongi in some wicked way when I'm like this although I should know that it's not true. It's nice when he takes care of me and makes sure I know that everything we do are only things he wants and enjoys.

How do you feel about erotic tickling? Would you be willing to try?

Well, the dom doesn't have to do much for this and it's more a form of satisfaction to drive your sub up the wall and I've watched a few people do it at play parties. I have tried it myself only once before and I asked Yoongi how he felt about it but he was pretty clear that it wasn't something he wanted to explore. If he ever changes his mind I'd be open to trying it out but it's not really something I miss.

I still get to tickle him sometimes outside the bedroom until he kicks me and leaves me wheezing.

Do you plan on having Yoongi move in with Namjoon anytime soon? Sometimes I forget that yoongi doesn't actually live with him, but I mean he practically does unofficially live with him if you catch my drift. I feel like Namjoon would just casually suggest it.

I sometimes forget Yoongi still lives in his own apartment so yes, they are most definitely going to end up moving in together but I haven't found a good story for bringing it up just yet.

If this isn't too personal... how did you get to writing about bdsm? Because you really know a lot and write it so well... im curious

First of all; thank you~ ^^

How I got into writing BDSM… honestly… I don't even know how it happened. I don't know what came first, my ideas or my curiosity. I've always been curious about BDSM but I never dared to do research because I was afraid I'd only find porn or something and it was a bit… embarrassing? But then I decided I should at least try it and I found out so, so much and I got even more inspiration from all the articles I read.

There are many BDSM fics out there that… how should I say this without sounding negative? They sometimes drift off into an overly perfect representation or a very unrealistic one which isn't wrong, I mean, everyone can write about what they want to write about as long as they tag properly and people are warned. No one is forcing anyone to read anything after all.

I just noticed that many fics aren't an exactly realistic representation and since there were so many things I wanted to address I decided to start writing. After the first few scenes I wrote I started uploading them as the 'Be Mine, Baby' series and I got so much positive feedback that I continued to dig deeper and address topics my readers suggested.

Some might think I'm an expert about BDSM but I'm really not, I'm just trying my very best to write about BDSM in a more realistic way that can educate people a little bit and show them a different side of BDSM fics. Not there very common stuff such as the jealousy fics.

!Long explanation ahead that doesn't have much to do with the question anymore but I'm in a writing flow right now! also about the jealousy thing from above

More often than not it goes like this: Sub talks to someone -> dom gets jealous -> punishes sub at home -> sub pretends not to like it but secretly enjoys it -> heated smut scenes -> everything is fine again.

This is totally fine if that's what you're going for but in a 'real' BDSM relationship this would be wrong on so, so many levels if it's actually meant in a serious way and not an established part of your scene (at least in my eyes).

First: If there is no established rule that says the sub is not allowed to talk to other people then their dom has no right to punish them. If they do they risk losing their sub's trust and respect and I honestly wouldn't want someone like that as my partner. One of the main reasons why there is no such rule or a similar one for Yoongi is because I myself would hate such a rule and therefore I can't imagine under what circumstances I would be okay with it and can't come up with reasons or a proper explanation why Yoongi might be fine with it.

Second: Punishment, as I have said a few times before, is there to correct behavior and ensure whatever the sub did is not done again.

It’s never part of play and should never ever be done when the dom is angry/sad/upset/overly tired/you name it or not level headed or. It is NOT something the sub is supposed to enjoy or they should be trying to achieve. If the sub loves spanking then spanking is not a punishment, it’s a reward. There is a pretty huge difference.

The kind of thing you read often is that the sub is trying to get their dom to do something specific aka punish them because they secretly enjoy the punishment. If this is play, okay fine, but if the sub honestly tries to manipulate their dom into doing something they are already breaking out of their sub role and the relationship should be reevaluated.

There is always the difference about this being play or not. If both parties are aware that they are playing around and teasing then it’s okay but if this is something regular and something the sub does all the time something's not right. Like if Yoongi would teasingly say 'Oh no, not the paddle, sir' and Namjoon would go along with it 'You've been so naughty baby, I need to make sure you know that all your pleasure is mine' that's not a real punishment. That's play.

I’m not saying the sub has to be a puppet, of course they would sometimes try to get their way but not by trying to get punished for real but more by pushing their dom’s buttons or doing their best to please them.

Third: As Namjoon also explained; if there really are such feeling of jealousy then the partners need to talk about it like adults. BDSM is all about communication, just like every relationship should be. You don’t solve issues by having sex… or am I missing out on something?

There is nothing wrong with these fics, I’m not trying to badmouth them, I read them too but I just want people to know what is and should be fiction and how it might play out in real life. Of course I’m not an expert and those are just my views but I can’t address this often enough >.< This is really important to me and sorry for the long rant…

Perfect way to end the Q&A with my beautiful rant~
